Innovation

We are committed to an innovative strategy

Impaorsa sees Research, Development and Innovation as a strategic area of our business, allowing us to place ourselves at the technological forefront of the market and of sustainable development.

In a sector like the one we move in, innovation and development mean added value. Management understands that having a system for managing R+D+I is a key priority and a factor in business competitiveness.

We aim to be leaders in innovation in the industries in which we operate. To do this, over the last two years, Impaorsa has invested one million euro in R+D+I. This investment has been devoted to the most advanced machinery and technologies, as well as to research that contributes to the improvement of the service and the diversification of the business in order to place ourselves at the forefront of the market.

Impaorsa has patented a series of products – among which are the integrated wristband, the I-CODE PIN and the vehicle badge – with which it aims to diversify our business and offer our customers new products and innovation for their marketing and advertising activities. Impaorsa also offers the possibility of integrating NFC and RFID technology into any of your documents, as well as recording them.
