Integrated label

Effectiveness in your administrative processes

This is a document on which a portion of the paper is turned into sticker, i.e., a combination of a traditional document and a sticker integrated into paper, that is customised just like the rest of the document.

What is its scope of application?

- Clinical analyses sheet.
- Emergency registration forms.
- Forms for product traceability.
- Promotional and customer loyalty marketing.
- Logistics solution for online sales.
- Others.

Advantages

- Benefit: time and cost savings.
- The ideal solution for printing on any printer (laser, ink-jet, etc.) because the technique used to integrate the adhesive allows the paper and the adhesive to be at the same height, preventing jams.
- The integrated document and label are printed together, thus eliminating the margin of error.
- The integrated label can be of any shape and size.
- Whatever number of stickers the client needs can be integrated.
