Transaction/Billing

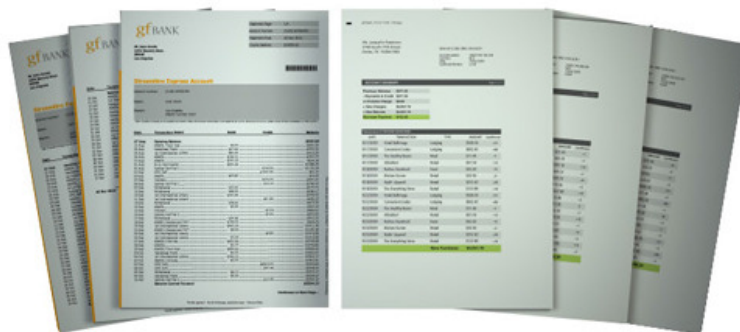

Save by getting rid of old administrative expenses

After more than two decades printing all your transaction-related documents, Impaorsa now offers the possibility of comprehensively managing all your processes of communication with your customers

Leave outsourcing the entire process of issuing your transaction-related documents in the hands of professionals. Contracting the process of managing and issuing your transaction-related documents means outsourcing the entire process, which comprises adapting the files, the variable printing of the document, handling or stuffing, franking and transport to the post office.

Why outsource issuing your documents?

- Savings in costs, resources and infrastructure.
- Optimise the communications process so that communications arrive to the customer sooner.
- Possibility of changing the design of your communications without additional computer-related costs.
- Wide variety of sizes and finishes for your documents.

What sets us apart?

- Commitment to innovation: constant technological renovation that will enable us to offer new channels of communication with your customers.
- We offer an extensive track record in image management.
- We have the technical and human resources necessary to issue your communications.
- Creativity and originality in your message and presentation of the transaction-related documents.

What we offer?

- Processing of the database.
- Security and confidentiality.
- Document management and design.
- Wide range of finishes and formats.
- We take care of the whole process: digital printing, handling, stuffing and logistics.
- Ability to include variable data and design (graphics, consumption statistics, etc).
